Numb. 830

The Daily Gazetteer.

THURSDAY, MARCH 2. 1738. Nº 838.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from France.

THE Paris Letter, which is dated last Saturday, says, that the Dauphin, not being able to rest for the Tooth Ach, M. Capperon, the King's Tooth-drawer, was sent for to pull it out, which he perform'd accordingly, tho' not without great Pain to his Patient; because the Tooth was very large, and deeply rooted in the Gum. The Cardinal, 'tis said, mends every Day more and more.

They write from Saumur, that on the 17th at Night they had a terrible Thunder Storm, during which the Lightening fell in several Places, but did no Mischief, and there was such a Hail Storm that the Inhabitants never saw one so dreadful.

The Paris Letter concludes, with Advice from Lower Bretagne, that M. Renaw, an Englishman, died there lately, aged 109; and that he was the Inventor of that Hellish Machine which the English made use of to burn the whole Town of St. Malo, when 'twas bombarded in the Reign of Lewis XIV.

The French Court has not been so Gay and Numerous for a long time, as it was the Week before last, on account of a great many Lords and Gentlemen lately preferred to Commissions, who came to return his Majesty Thanks.

'Tis strange how many Lies and Stories have been told about the Count Sulkowski. He was not committed to the Castle of Konegstein, nor is he under Arrest at his own House, as several News Papers have insinuated; but on the contrary, we are told by Letters from Leipsick, that he is at full Liberty to go abroad when and where he pleases, and to receive Visits when and from whomsoever he will. As among other Affairs, of which this Nobleman has had the Management, there are some which the King thinks fit to refer to the Examination of Commissioners; his Majesty has appointed four for that Purpose, who are the Count de Bruhl, and the Count de Wackerbarth Salmour, Ministers of State and of the Cabinet; and General Bandissin and M. Walter, Counsellors of the Court. The Letters by which we have this Advice, are dated the 16th ult. O. S. and those of the 13th, dated directly from Dresden, say, that the Count has petitioned and obtained Leave of his Majesty to retire to his Estate; but that Bills have been dropped in the Streets, reciting the Words of the 19th Verse of the 3d Chapter of the Prophet Nahum (alluding to the Count's Disgrace) viz. There is no healing of thy Bruise; thy Wound is grievous: all that hear the bruit of thee shall clap the Hands over thee; for upon whom hath not thy Wickedness passed continually?

The various Surmises and Conjectures about this Count having excited a general Inquiry into his Character, we may venture to direct the Reader for a just Account of it to the first Volume of the Memoirs of the Baron de POLLNITZ, who was intimately acquainted with the Saxon Court and Ministers, and from whom we have extracted what follows, viz.

'This Count, whose Name was Alexander Joseph, 'and who is a Native of Poland, was Staroft of 'Sokolnick, Chief Huntsman of Lithuania, Master 'of the Horse, Great Master of the Wardrobe, 'Major General of the King's Forces, Colonel of 'the Crown Guards, and of a Regiment of Foot, and 'Knight of the Order of the White Eagle, as well 'as Minister of the Cabinet. Being taken into Service very young as Page to the King, then the 'Prince Royal and Electoral, he accompanied him 'in his Travels, and thereby acquired a good Fund 'of Knowledge; particularly in 1726, when he 'accompanied the Prince to Poland, where the 'chief Nobility were pleased to see that his Royal 'Highness honour'd their Countryman, the Count 'Sulkowski, with his Confidence; and they thought 'it a happy Omen for their Nation, and blessed their 'Stars, that the Prince distinguish'd Virtue in one 'born among themselves. His great Sobriety, his 'Assiduity, his Application to the Discharge of his 'Duties, his Sense, and his sincere Attachment to 'Religion, won his Master's Heart, of which he 'keeps Possession even to this Day; with a Di'stinction that does him the more Honour, because 'he derives it from the King's thorough Conviction 'of his Merit.

'The Count is of a good Stature, has a noble and 'modest Air, and a Candour in his Conversation and 'his Actions, which is very engaging. He is civil, 'and makes no other Use of his Favour but to do as 'much Good as he can, without prejudicing the In'terests of the King, whom he serves with Grati'tude, Affection, and Zeal. He is a generous Mi'nister, and his House is open to all Persons of 'Distinction.

'After he had serv'd as a Page, he was by the late 'King made a Gentleman of the Bed-Chamber; and 'not long after that, his present Majesty, who was 'then still Prince Royal, declared him Director of 'his Hunting Equipage, and trusted him with the 'Management of his Domestick Affairs. The late 'King also appointed him one of his Chamberlains.

'At the famous Camp at Zeithain, the Count 'commanded an Independent Company. He dis'cover'd so great Application, and such a happy 'Genius for the Art of War, that the late King, 'whose Penetration nothing could escape, took it for 'a good Omen, and gave him a Regiment of Foot. 'Thus did the Count make his way towards the 'splendid Fortune which he now enjoys. M. de 'Bruhl resigning his Post of Great Master of the 'Wardrobe, soon after the King's Accession to the 'Government, his Majesty gave that Post to his Fa'vorite. He afterwards called him to his Cabinet 'Council; and at his Coronation, he made him 'Knight of the Order of the White Eagle. After 'the Court's Return from Cracow, the Count went to 'the Army before Dantzick; where he gave Demon'stration of his being as good a Soldier as he is an 'able Statesman. It being not compatible with his 'Ministry to be long absent, and Dantzick being on 'the Point of capitulating, he went to give the King 'an Account of the Success of its Siege, and the 'Prosperity of his Arms. He accompanied his Ma'jesty to the Abbey of Oliva, and by his Prudence 'contributed very much to put such Polish Lords in 'mind of their Obedience, who had thought of be'ing exempted from it. And his only View being 'more and more to deserve that Favour with which 'the King honours him, and being desirous of having 'it in his Power to serve him, as well in his Armies, 'as in his Cabinet, he went last of all to the Imperial 'Army, in order to qualify himself for a Command 'under Prince Eugene of Savoy.

'To complete the good Fortune of this Count, 'he married a Lady, who, besides her Birth and per'sonal Charms, has a Character which gains her the 'Applause and Veneration of all that know her. 'She is hereditary Baroness of Stein; and when he 'married her, she was Lady of Honour to the 'Queen. They are both Members of the Roman 'Catholick Church.'

SCOTLAND.

Edinburgh, Feb. 23. Yesterday the Senators of the College of Justice passed Sentence on David Din, of Stirlingshire, to be whip'd by the common Hangman at Stirling, the first Market Day after the 7th of March next; in like manner to be whip'd from the Castlehill to the Netherbow of this City, on the first Wednesday after the 16th of the said Month; and afterwards to be imprison'd till he is transported for Life, &c. being convicted by their Lordships of forging the Acceptation of James Taylor, Tenant in Easter Cringate, to a Bill of 1000 Merks, and an Indorsation thereof; also his having forged a Discharge of 200 Merks from the said James Taylor, and two other feigned Contracts. He would have been remitted to the Court of Justiciary for these Crimes, but that the Lord who sate in the Chair determined on the favourable Side, as is customary.

The only true Specifick Tincture

For the TOOTH-ACH, and all Disorders and Defects of the TEETH and GUMS whatever, which has given such intire Satisfaction to the Nobility and Gentry for above Twenty Years past, by its vastly excelling all other Things, ever formerly invented or lately contrived for those Purposes;

SINCE one Drop of it gives infallible and instant Ease in the most tormenting Pain, which nothing else will, and not only takes it away in a Moment, but absolutely cures the TOOTH-ACH, so as certainly to prevent its Return,

At only once using it makes the foulest Teeth most beautifully white, assuredly fastens those that are loose, and infallibly preserves the Teeth from growing rotten, and those a little decay'd, from becoming worse: It perfectly cures the Scurvy in the Gums, causing them to grow up to the Teeth again to Admiration, and also occasions a Sweet Breath.

It is neither disagreeable to the Smell or Taste, but effectually preserves the Teeth and Gums from all Manner of Foulness, Corruption, and Putrefaction, keeps them sound, good, and in most beautiful Order, and may be depended upon to answer the Character here given of it, literally, and in every Respect, as Persons innumerable have experienc'd.

But these inimitable Qualities, and solely inherent Virtues, by which it has justly gain'd such an universal and unparallel'd great character, have occasion'd, as usual in such cases, various and frequent Endeavours to mimick it, some under the same Name, and in the very Words of this Advertisement, and others under other Names; be careful therefore, to have the right, which may be infallibly relied upon, and which is to be had only of the Author's Appointment, of the Gentlewoman, at the Two Blue-Posts, in Haydon Yard, in the Minories, London, at 3 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with Directions.

Good Allowance to those who take Quantities for Exportation.

The Great Carminative.

A most famous Tincture for the Wind Cholick,

IN what Part soever lodged; for at once taking, and in five Minute's Time, it perfectly cures the severest Gripings in the Guts, and immediately expels the Wind from the Stomach or Bowels (as it were) to a Miracle.

For all wandering Pains in any Part soever, which are in some Persons the Forerunners of a fixed Rheumatism, in others the Gout (mistaken many times under the Notion of Scorbutick Ailments) this famous Medicine has not its Fellow, having wrought Wonders in these Cases on great Numbers of People, who, before taking it, could neither sit, stand, nor lie at Ease; but were in intolerable Pain Night and Day, and in taking less than half a Bottle, were absolutely freed from their present Pain, and, by a short Continuance of the Course, recovered to perfect Health again.

As for any Belchings or Hiccups, proceeding from Wind; or, in short, in any Case of Wind, it may be depended on as the best, safest, most expeditious, and most sovereign Remedy ever yet known.

It is sold only at Mr. King's Picture Shop in the Poultry, near the Royal Exchange, and at Mr. Martin's Toy Shop, the Sign of the Three Rabbits near Durham-yard, in the Strand, at 3 s. the Bottle.

By the said Mr. King and Mr. Martin is also sold for 3 s. the Bottle.

The Princely beautifying LOTION.

Whose INIMITABLE VIRTUES and TRANSCENDENT EXCELLENCIES have gained it so much Reputation, that envious Imitators endeavour, tho' in vain, to counterfeit it.

It beautifies the Face, Neck, and Hands to the utmost Perfection, and is in the greatest Esteem amongst Ladies, &c. of the first Quality. No Words can sufficiently express its Virtues; for it is not of the Nature of Paint, which puts a false and unnatural Gloss on the Skin; but is a Remedy that, by its Use, really gives a Lustre to the most Beautiful, by freeing the fine Features of the Face, and is so safe, not having the least Grain of Mercury in it, that it may be taken inwardly, and if smelled to, is really good against Vapours.

It infallibly kill Worms in the Face, takes away Freckles, Spots, Wrinkles, Pits, or Marks of the Small-Pox, and assuredly cures any Defects in the Face, giving a charming youthful Lustre and fine Air to the Features, to Admiration.

As for such Persons as are of a swarthy Complexion, or troubled with any disagreeable Redness, Roughness, Morphew, Heats, or the like, it is not to be paralleld; for it immediately smooths, clears, plumps, nourishes, and whitens the Skin to the last Degree, and makes those Persons who before look'd hagged and old, to look young, beautiful, and fair; and, in short, it far exceeds any thing that was ever yet known or made publick, for clearing and beautifying the Skin.
